

Filing requirements for patent applications in Australia.

Watermark needs the following information to meet the documentary patent filing requirements of Australia.

PCT Cases (National Phase)

Minimum Requirements

- Details about the PCT application (applicant, serial number and international filing date).
- A verified translation, if the PCT specification is not in English, is needed at filing. A verified translation requires a certificate from the translator of the specification.

For our File

- A copy of the PCT specification.
- Indications as to whether there are Article 19 and/or Article 34 amendments with a copy of the amendments.
- A copy of the International Search Report and International Preliminary Report on Patentability (if any).
- Copies of Notifications of Recordal of Changes of Applicant Name and Address (PCT/IB306).

Convention and All Other Cases

Minimum Requirements

- Information about the applicant (name, address, details of incorporation if the applicant is a corporation).
- If the applicant is other than the inventor(s), name(s) of the inventor(s).

- A specification, claims, abstract and drawings (if any), with all text in English.
- If priority is to be claimed, details of the priority application including country, serial number and filing date are required. A certified copy of the priority application is not required unless requested by the Commissioner of Patents.

Applications Involving Microorganisms

- Where the invention concerns a micro-organism, evidence of deposit of the microorganism in a prescribed depository institution will also be required.

No Power of Attorney Required

No Power of Attorney or other document signed by the applicant is required for filing a patent application in Australia.

Melbourne

T +613 9819 1664
F +613 9819 6010

Sydney

T +612 9888 6600
F +612 9888 7600

Perth

T +618 9325 1900
F +618 9325 4463

E mail@watermark.com.au

W www.watermark.com.au

B www.intellectualassetmanagement.com.au

AU
Patents

For more information on Watermark's comprehensive range of intellectual property services contact mail@watermark.com.au

